Terps at the WORLD CUP

The United States National Team captured the 2001 World Cup with a roster featuring eight former Terps.

The 2001 International Federation of Women's Lacrosse Associations' World Cup was played in High Wycombe, England, but that didn't stop the event from having a distinctive Maryland stamp.

At the championships, which were won by the United States, a total of 14 former and current Terrapin lacrosse players represented their respective countries. The U.S. team featured eight Terps among its 16 players including Kelly Amonte-Hiller (1996), Erin Brown (1990), Quinn Carney (2001), Randall Flynn (1997), Christie Jenkins (2000), Kristin Sommar (2000), Michele Uhlfelder (1991) and Jess Wilk (1990). In addition, five members of the Australian national team can claim they played at Maryland. Among them were current Terp Courtney Hobbs and former players Jen Adams (2001), Trish Adams, Sarah Forbes (1997) and Sascha Newmarch (1998). Finally, the newest member of this year's team, Laura Warren, was a starting attacker for the Welsh team.

As mentioned previously, the title was taken home by the Americans, but it took a come-from-behind effort to beat the Aussies, 14-8, in the championship game. The 2-0 deficit that the U.S.A. dug itself out of was the only time that it trailed in the tourney.

Coach of Eight National Championship Teams

Cindy TIMCHAL

Head Coach
West Chester, '76
12th year at Maryland
21st year overall

If excellence is a measure of accomplishment, her eight NCAA titles at Maryland speak volumes.

If excellence is a measure of character, the lives she touches and the student-athletes she molds represent an immeasurable impact on the people around her.

If excellence is a way to describe those who are admired by their athletes, revered by their peers, and respected by their community, then Maryland head women's lacrosse coach Cindy Timchal celebrates nothing less than 11 years of excellence at the University of Maryland.

When Timchal arrived in College Park, the Maryland women's lacrosse program stood at a 201-69-3 (a .736 winning percentage) all-time. Under Timchal's guidance, the Terps have taken a what was already a strong program and elevated it to one that has since notched an astounding record of 192-12 (.941), turning Maryland into the winningest Division I women's lacrosse team ever. The Terps are now 393-81-3 (.824) in 28 years of lacrosse.

Past the numbers, though, Timchal has done her part to revolutionize the sport of women's lacrosse. Ten years ago, she brought former Syracuse men's lacrosse standout and current pro Gary Gait to Maryland to put his unique stamp on the Terrapin program as an assistant coach. Seven years ago, she added the wisdom of California-based spiritual advisor and author Dr. Jerry Lynch to enrich the minds of her student-athletes. That decision has complemented the already high level of physical training it takes to excel at the Division I level.

From the time of her arrival, Timchal has lost no more than three games in any one season, including the spectacular undefeated seasons of 1996 (19-0), 1999 (21-0) and 2001 (23-0) and only five losses in the last seven seasons. She has taken her Terrapin teams to the NCAA finals in 10 of the past 11 years. This year, Maryland will contend for an unprecedented eighth straight national title. No other Division I women's team can boast a current streak of championships like Timchal has at Maryland, and last year's seventh-straight title puts Timchal and her Terps in the company of a coaching legend like UCLA's John Wooden who won seven straight titles with the UCLA men's basketball program from 1967-73.

While last year marked the start of her second decade of coaching at Maryland, Timchal's coaching career got its start at Northwestern in 1982. During her nine-year tenure with the Wildcats, she compiled a 76-40 record (.655) and took her team to five NCAA appearances. While at Northwestern, Timchal made it as far as the quarterfinals, earning appearances in the NCAA Tournament in 1984, '86, '87, and '88. In 1991, she came to the College Park to continue the already long-standing tradition of Terrapin lacrosse.

The Terrapins' last title had come in 1986 under head coach Sue Tyler, but the Maryland dynasty began to re-emerge almost immediately under Timchal's guidance. Timchal's first year saw a 14-3 record and a trip to the NCAA finals. By 1992, the lacrosse world knew something big was about to happen at Maryland. Despite being at a place with a rich history in both men's and women's lacrosse, few could have predicted that a dynasty so powerful was on the horizon. With a 14-1 record, the Terrapins took the 1992 national title – just the third time in Maryland school history.

The 1993 season would bring a heartbreaking 7-6 loss to the Princeton Tigers in the NCAA semifinals. The following year led to further frustration with the Tigers, as a 10-7 decision left the Terrapins just one win away from hoisting the trophy again. In 1995, however, Timchal and the Terps would turn the tables on the competition.

After the three-goal loss to Princeton in 1994, the Terps would go on to win 50 straight games. Timchal led the 1995 squad to a 17-0 run ending in a 13-5 defeat of Princeton for the NCAA title. Maryland would go undefeated again in 1996, finishing with a 19-0 record and a 10-5 decision over ACC rival Virginia to take home the hardware.

The 1997 season would begin with Timchal's squad wearing the label of back-to-back NCAA champions. A 21-1 record would see the Terps begin '98 as the three-time defending national champions, and come one goal short of putting together their third consecutive undefeated season.

The dynasty continued throughout the 1998 season despite an 0-2 start following losses to Duke and North Carolina. That season finished the same way as the previous three, however, with Timchal's Terrapins being crowned the NCAA champions once again, this time behind an 11-5 win over Virginia.

In 1999, the Terrapins were no less than the personification of a finely-tuned program from top to bottom. Timchal led Maryland to a 21-0 season, the team's fifth-straight title. The 2000 season saw Maryland stumble momentarily out of the gate with an overtime loss at North Carolina, but the "machine" could not be stopped as the Terps went on to win their final 20 en route to their sixth title in a row.

Last year may have been Timchal's finest of all her seasons as a head coach. The Terrapins played one of – if not the – toughest schedule in women's lacrosse and were every team's target as the one to beat. Despite the attention, the Terps again ran through the schedule without a blemish and ultimately beat Georgetown in a gut-wrenching title game to finish 23-0. The 23 wins are most ever by a team in a single season.

On the road to number eight – the 2002 season – Timchal is piloting the winningest program in Division I women's lacrosse history with the longest current active streak of national titles of any women's Division I program. Her .838 winning percentage places her 5th on the list of all-time women's lacrosse coaches. She enters this season having won more games (268) than any coach in women's lacrosse history after surpassing William & Smith's Pat Genovese at the end of last year.

Individually, her athletes have earned countless accolades and awards. Last season, Maryland had four first team All-Americans give it 15 in the last four years. Jen Adams set the all-time collegiate scoring mark while leading the NCAA in that category. Adams also became the first-ever winner of the Tewaaraton Trophy, which recognizes the top collegiate men's and women's player in the country. In 1996, Kelly Amonte became the Terps' first four-time All-American, including first-team honors in 1995 and 1996.

A total of 40 Terrapins have earned All-American recognition under Timchal including Amonte's four, (1993-96), and three each for Betsy Elder (1992-94), Sarah Forbes (1995-97), Laura Harmon (1993-95), Sascha Newmarch (1996-98) and Adams (1999-2001). Adams' third-consecutive selection as Player of the Year in 2000 marked the 10th time one of Timchal's players have earned National Player of the Year honors, including Amonte, who was named the 1996 NCAA Division I Most Valuable Player. Nationally, 15 of Timchal's players have played on the U.S. Developmental team and eight were members of this past year's championship World Cup team (half of the squad of the 16).

Timchal not only produces champions on the field, but also in the classroom. Most recently, Jen Adams was named GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year (2000). In 1998, Sascha Newmarch earned GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American. Betsy Elder was a two-time Academic All-American in 1993-94, while Theresa Ingram and Jamie Brodsky earned honors in 1994 and 1996, respectively.

As impressive as the honors under Timchal are, the most telling of all her accomplishments as a coach may be what has become of some of her former players. Timchal has created somewhat of a legacy of creating coaches indirectly through her coaching. Among the former players who have gone on to coach at the collegiate level are Maureen Scott Dupack (1994 grad; current coach at American University), Kelly Amonte-Hiller (1996 grad; current head coach at Northwestern), Randall Goldsborough-Flynn (1996 grad; current head coach at Franklin & Marshall), Theresa Ingram (1994 grad; current coach at Brown), Kerstin Kimel (1993 grad; current head coach at Duke), Courtney Martinez-Conner (2001 grad; current Mount Saint Mary's head coach), Karen McCrate (1996 grad; coach of 2001 NCAA D-II champion C.W. Post), Jennifer Uhlela (1991 grad; current head coach at James Madison) and Michelle Uhlfelder (1991 grad; current Stanford head coach).

Timchal attended West Chester (Pa.) University where she lettered in lacrosse, tennis and track & field. Following her graduation, she became an assistant coach at Unionville (Pa.) High School where she coached field hockey, lacrosse and basketball. In 1979, she joined the collegiate ranks, becoming an assistant lacrosse and field hockey coach at the University of Pennsylvania. Following one very successful season at Penn, she became the head coach at Northwestern. She spent nine years at the helm of the Wildcat program where she posted a record of 76-40 (.655). She coached the Wildcats to the NCAA Tournament five times, including three consecutive fifth-place finishes from 1986-88.

Gary GAIT

Associate Head Coach
Syracuse, '91
9th year at Maryland

Assistant coach Gary Gait is in a league of his own when it comes to national championships. A former lacrosse player at Syracuse, Gait owns a piece of all of Maryland's last seven national championships, and was a three-time national champion while with the Orangemen. The 15 goals he scored in the 1990 NCAA Tournament is a tournament record, and his nine goals against Navy in 1988 is also an NCAA record for most goals in an NCAA Tournament game.

No single person in the sport of lacrosse takes on as many roles as Gait. The most renowned collegiate men's lacrosse player in the nation during his competitive career, Gait elevated Syracuse to three national titles. A four-time All-American, he graduated as the Orange's all-time goal leader with 192. By career's end, he also owned the school's single-season goal record with 70, which he scored in 1988. His individual accolades included the Division I Most Outstanding Player award in 1988 and '90, and the 1988 and '89 Division I Most Outstanding Midfielder honors. Gait ranks sixth all-time on the Syracuse career point chart, totaling 253 points.

Gait – who is in his ninth season as head coach Cindy Timchal's assistant – has contributed mightily to the success that the Terrapins have achieved throughout the years and, in doing so, has put his unique stamp on the Maryland program.

The Victoria, British Columbia, native has been a member of the Canadian National Team since 1989. For the 2002 World Championships in Australia, he is taking on a new role as he will serve not only as one of the team's top players, but also as an assistant coach. His recent work in his homeland includes being named head coach of the under-19 Canadian National Team that will participate in the U-19 World Championships at Towson University in 2003.

As all great players do, Gait has stepped up big when the stakes are the highest. He has been an All-World selection at every World Championship in which he has played (1990, 1994 and 1998), and in 1998 he was selected at that year's championships as the top midfielder in the world.

In addition to his work with the Canadian National Team, Gait has been playing professional indoor lacrosse for the past 11 years. He has earned first team All-Pro honors a record-setting 11 straight years and has also been named league most valuable player a record five times. He has been a member of three championship teams – the 1990 Detroit Turbos and the 1994 and 1995 Philadelphia Wings.

Gait is currently a forward for the Washington Power of the National Lacrosse League and he was recently named the offensive coordinator for the Baltimore Bayhawks of Major League Lacrosse. As a player in that league with the Long Island Lizards, Gait helped lead the team to the league's first-ever championship in 2001.

Gait is married to the former Nicole Black and the couple has two children; a daughter, Taylor (8), and a son, Braedon (5).

Cathy NELSON

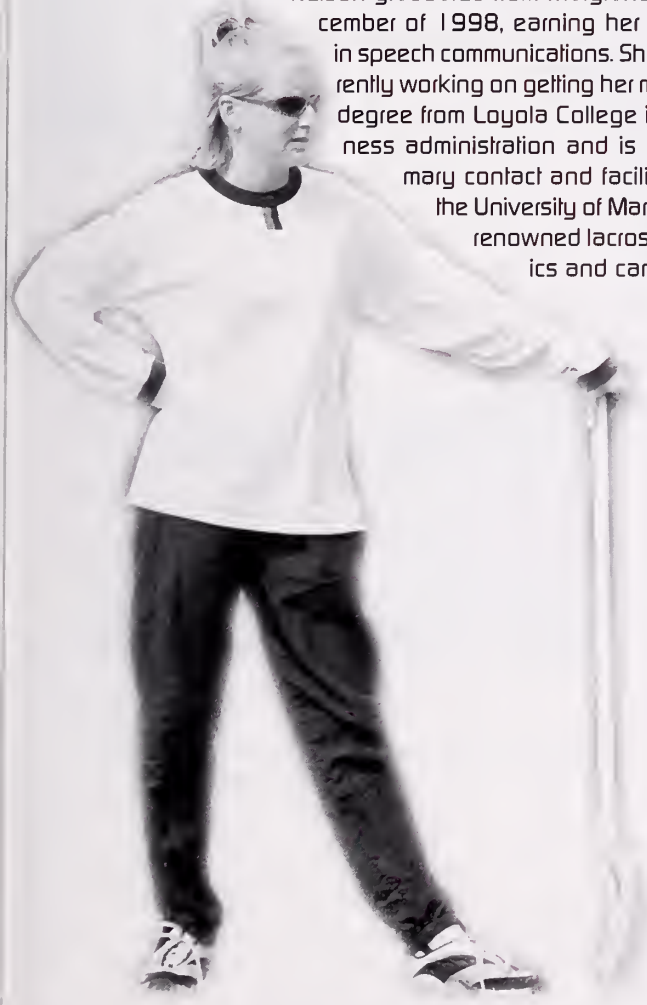
Assistant Coach
Maryland, '98
4th year at Maryland

Cathy Nelson enters her fourth year as an assistant coach for the Maryland lacrosse program. She brings to the table one of the only intangibles the Terrapins' other two full-time coaches can not – she played lacrosse at Maryland.

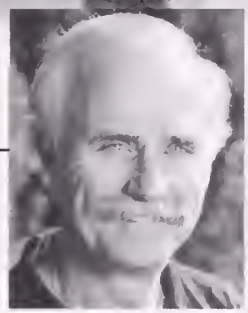
To say that Nelson simply played here would be downplaying her accomplishments as a Terrapin. The second-leading scorer on the 1998 NCAA championship team and that year's NCAA Tournament most valuable player, Nelson's name dots the Terrapin record books. She ranks in the Top 10 for her career and on the single season charts in goals and assists and is in the Top 15 for points scored at Maryland. She finished her career with 217 points, 140 goals and 77 assists.

Nelson is still involved in lacrosse as a player as she plays in the National Club Lacrosse League as a member of Team Toyota.

A two-time All-American and four-time national champion, Nelson graduated from Maryland in December of 1998, earning her degree in speech communications. She is currently working on getting her master's degree from Loyola College in business administration and is the primary contact and facilitator of the University of Maryland's renowned lacrosse clinics and camps.



Dr. Jerry LYNCH



Spiritual Advisor
St. Francis
7th year at Maryland

Jerry Lynch is entering his seventh season as a spiritual advisor for the Maryland women's lacrosse team. He has over 20 years of experience and has worked with clients in the PGA, NFL and NBA, as well as numerous collegiate teams, many of which have either advanced to the NCAA Final Four or won an NCAA title.

Lynch runs the TaoSports Center for Athletic Development which is based in Santa Cruz, Calif. He has published seven books and has had 75 published articles. His latest book, Creative Coaching, was published at the beginning of last year.

The Terrapins have won seven straight NCAA titles and five ACC titles since his arrival. Lynch also works with the field hockey team which captured the 1999 national championship and made it to the national finals in 2001. Maryland's women's basketball and volleyball teams also use Lynch as a consultant throughout their seasons.

After earning his bachelor's degree in English from St. Francis College, Lynch earned his master's degree in psychology from Penn State and his Ph. D. in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania. In addition, he has earned a Ph. D. in comparative religions from the American College of Theology and a master's degree in family and child counseling from California.

Alex KAHOE

Volunteer Assistant Coach
Maryland, '00
2nd year at Maryland

Alex Kahoe begins her second season as volunteer assistant coach for the Maryland lacrosse program. Like Cathy Nelson, she is a former Maryland standout who brings a wealth of big-game experience to the table. Her primary responsibility in 2002 will be in working with the Terrapin goalkeepers.

Kahoe, a 2000 graduate of Maryland, was a team captain for three national championship teams at Maryland (1998-2000) as well as a three-time All-American at goalie. In 1999 and 2000, she was named the NCAA Goalkeeper of the Year, a designation that she also earned in the ACC as a freshman in 1997.

A member of the U.S. national team since 1997, Kahoe has been involved in sport both on and off of the field. While in school, she was a member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Council, an organization she served as president in the 1999-2000 academic year. In that year, she also served as a committee member for NCAA Re-Certification at Maryland.

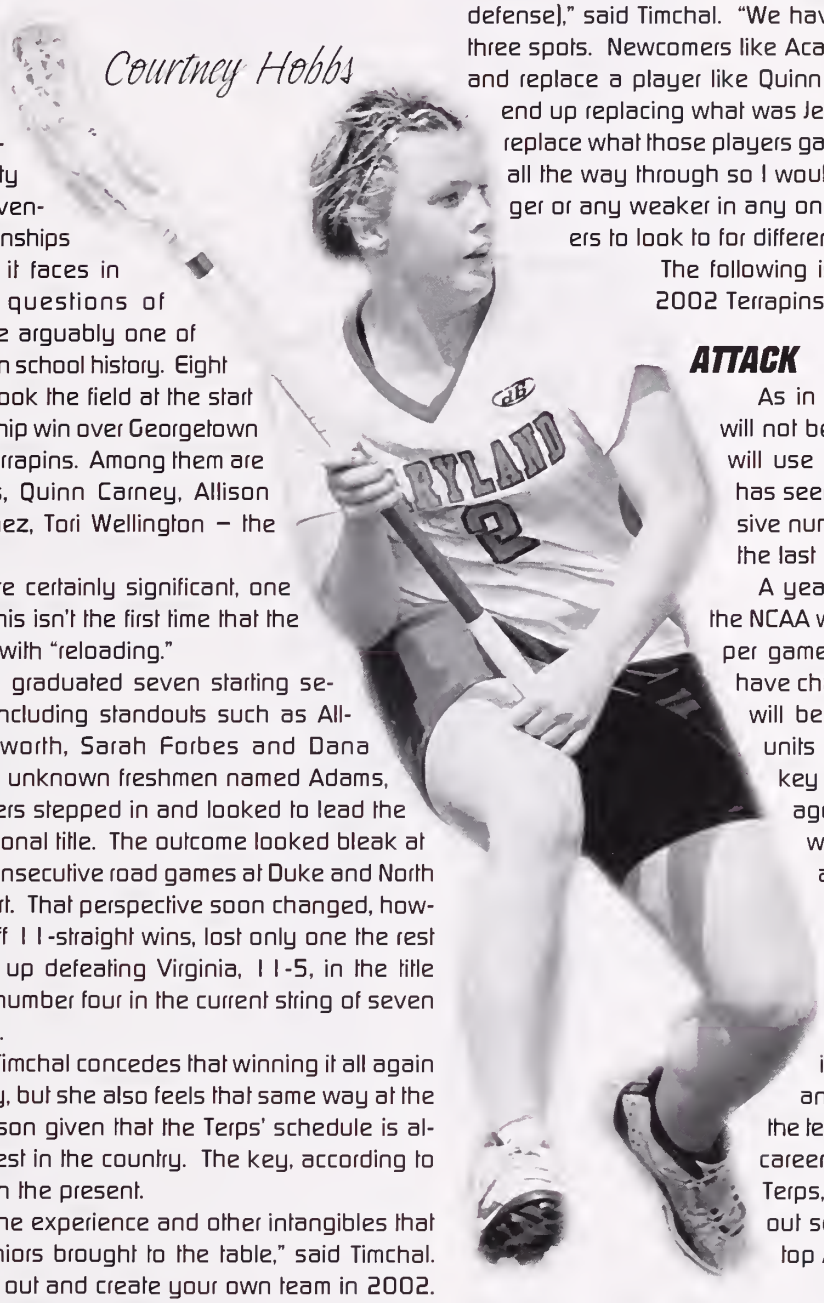
2002 SEASON OUTLOOK

Change. It is something that is inevitable in collegiate athletics, regardless of the sport. The most time you can have with a player – with few exceptions – is four years. How a program deals with that fact can make the difference between a flash in the pan and a dynasty.

Great teams don't rebuild; they reload.



The University of Maryland women's lacrosse team has established itself as a dynasty in its sport, winning seven-straight national championships and 10 overall. What it faces in 2002, however, are questions of whether it can overcome arguably one of the finest senior classes in school history. Eight of the 12 players who took the field at the start of last year's championship win over Georgetown are no longer with the Terrapins. Among them are names like Jen Adams, Quinn Carney, Allison Comito, Courtney Martinez, Tori Wellington – the list goes on and on.

While the losses are certainly significant, one must be reminded that this isn't the first time that the Terps have had to deal with "reloading."

In 1998, Maryland graduated seven starting seniors the year before, including standouts such as All-Americans Caryl Duckworth, Sarah Forbes and Dana Gwaltney. That season, unknown freshmen named Adams, Carney, Comito and others stepped in and looked to lead the Terrapins to another national title. The outcome looked bleak at the start after falling in consecutive road games at Duke and North Carolina and an 0-2 start. That perspective soon changed, however, as the Terps ran off 11-straight wins, lost only one the rest of the way and ended up defeating Virginia, 11-5, in the title game for what became number four in the current string of seven national championships.

Head coach Cindy Timchal concedes that winning it all again this year will not be easy, but she also feels that same way at the beginning of every season given that the Terps' schedule is always among the toughest in the country. The key, according to Timchal, is in focusing on the present.

"You can't replace the experience and other intangibles that last year's group of seniors brought to the table," said Timchal. "What you can do is go out and create your own team in 2002. Become your own group with your own identity. The key is not looking back but instead saying, 'This is where we are; it's a new beginning and we are going to focus on stepping up and continuing to build on what the people before us have done.' We have complete confidence that the players we have will do that."

And in focusing on the present, it must be noted that what is left behind is a super-talented mix of veterans and newcomers alike. A group that, like the one in '98, may not achieve perfection, but could just win when it matters most.

"We show strength in all three positions (attack, midfield and defense)," said Timchal. "We have new players coming in at all three spots. Newcomers like Acacia Walker will have to come in and replace a player like Quinn Carney and Kristie Leggio will end up replacing what was Jen Adams' spot. You can't really replace what those players gave us, but we have solid people all the way through so I wouldn't say that we are any stronger or any weaker in any one area; we just have new players to look to for different contributions."

The following is a breakdown, by unit, of the 2002 Terrapins:

ATTACK

As in years past, the Terrapin attack will not be short on firepower. The Terps will use the same fast break style that has seen it post some of the best offensive numbers in women's lacrosse over the last several years.

A year ago, Maryland tied for first in the NCAA with an average of 14.65 points per game. Though some of the names have changed, the starting unit in 2002 will be among the most experienced units on the field for the Terps. The key returnee from the group of a year ago is senior Courtney Hobbs, who will also see time in the midfield and occasionally take the draw.

Hobbs, who had a career year in 2001 with 67 points (47 goals, 20 assists), will get more shots in this year's offense. The Australian native is in the best shape of her career and her hard-nosed style will set the tempo for the Terrapin offense. The career leader in points among current Terps, Hobbs is set to have a breakout senior season and is the team's top All-American candidate.

Joining Hobbs on the attack will be fellow seniors Meredith Egan and Katie Robinson. Egan was the Terps' eighth-leading scorer a year ago and does not lack for anything on the offensive end. Robinson, like Hobbs, enters her senior year in the best physical condition of her career and though she does not have the pure, straight-ahead speed of Hobbs or Egan, her stick skills are exceptional and she, too, should have a breakout season on the offensive end.

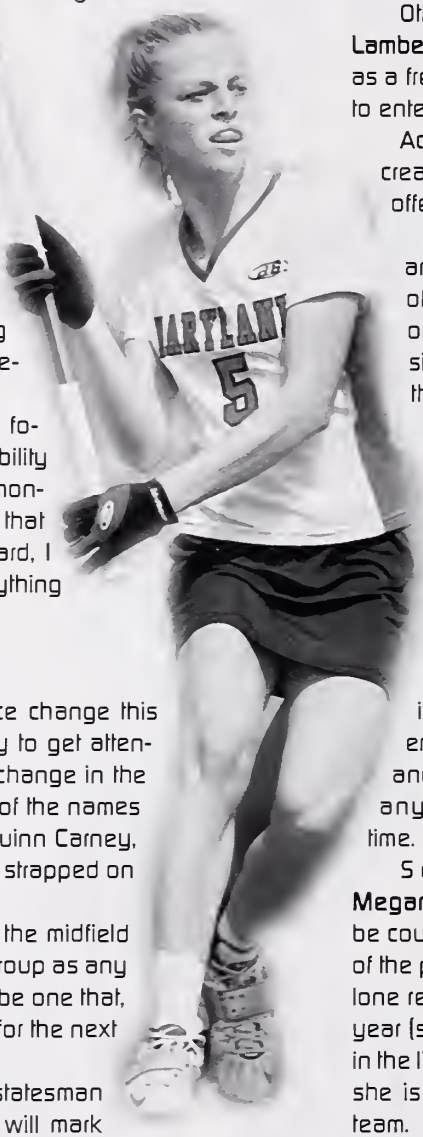
Though three seniors head up the group, it is not without some fresh faces. Sophomore Annie Collins returns from a knee injury that kept her out all of last year while freshmen Jessica Dorney and Kristie Leggio will both challenge for significant playing time. In the preseason, Leggio emerged as the likely fourth starter from that group.

It is a group capable of putting up big numbers and continuing the tradition established by its predecessors.

"It is our philosophy to really focus in on quality offense and the ability to finish," said Timchal. "We will demonstrate the type of explosive offense that we have in the past. In that regard, I don't think you are going to see anything different from this year's group."

Sonia Judd



MIDFIELD

Of all of the units that will face change this year, the midfield is the most likely to get attention. Not because there will be a change in the quality of play, but more because of the names who have left in Jen Adams and Quinn Carney, two of the top players to have ever strapped on Maryland gear.

The likely starters this year in the midfield will, however, be as talented of a group as any the Terrapins have seen and it will be one that, without a surprise, will be together for the next two years.

Junior Sonia Judd is the elder statesman of the group. The 2002 season will mark Judd's second as a starter, but she will likely feel the need to produce even more than in the past. Though she started 15 games a year ago, Judd was hampered by injuries and did not make the impact that she is capable of. That said, this season will really be her first opportunity to shine and an improvement on her 25 points of a year ago is likely in the offing.

Joining Judd are sophomore Kelly Coppedge and freshman Acacia Walker. Coppedge was the top freshman on last year's team and found herself in the lineup a good bit despite an excess of experience ahead of her. Coppedge finished fifth on the team in scoring (32 points), but the experience she gained at tournament time proved that she is ready for even more of an impact. She was an all-tournament pick at the NCAA Championships.

Walker is a local product (Annapolis) who comes in as one of the most acclaimed freshmen the program has seen. By all accounts, her advanced billing is well-deserved. An all-around player, Walker will start at the center position and will take the majority of Maryland's draws, filling a key role left vacated by Carney the last few years.

Others who will see playing time in the midfield include Molly Lambert, Meredith O'Brien and Megan Sommar. Lambert was solid as a freshman a year ago and will likely be one of the first Terps to enter the game and could, in fact, end up as a starter.

According to Timchal, the key for this group is to come in and create situations that put the team at an advantage on the offensive end.

"We have always prided ourselves on our transition game and being able to move out of our defense and into our offense," said Timchal. "We feel that we will be very capable of creating what we call 'unsettled' situations and fast break situations with our midfielders. We have some different faces this year, but the goals and objectives will not change."

DEFENSE

Like the midfield, the defense will be noticeably different in 2002. All four starters who opened the 2001 season (Meg Carrington, Tara Foran, Courtney Martinez and Kerri Mulligan) have graduated. Martinez was the player who could put the clamps down last season, but Terp coaches are hoping that there will be a couple of players this year who can step up and fill that role at any given time.

Senior Megan Kelly will be counted on heavily as one of the players to fill that role. Kelly is the lone returning player to have started last year (she replaced an injured Carrington in the lineup down the stretch of '01) and she is one of the best athletes on the team. A starter for the Terp field hockey team, Kelly is speedy and her year-round athletics schedule keeps her well conditioned.

Senior Annie Morris, junior Julie Shank and freshman Greta Sommers appear set to start alongside Kelly. Morris is a tenacious defender who will start for the first time in her four years at Maryland. In limited action a year ago, Morris saw some of the most crucial time on the field, playing well in the nail-biter at Dartmouth.

Shank is returning from a knee injury suffered prior to the Ohio State game of last year and then an ensuing menisectomy on her right knee prior to this season. All indications are that she will be ready for the season opener which will be a welcome sight considering she was coming on as one of Maryland's top players a year ago.

One of the surprises of fall ball, Sommers seems to have earned a starting job with strong recognition of opposing offenses and solid one-on-one skills. She is a walk-on who was invited to join the team after showing promise as a four-sport star as a prep. Coaches are excited about her potential but even more enthused that she has the ability to play now.

Also in the mix on defense will be junior Kristin Sudina, and sophomores Meg Mallon and Tess McLeod. Of that group, Mallon is most likely to see the field first but there should be some stiff competition before all is said and done.

Overall, the unit is less long-in-the-tooth, but more athletic than the one that took the field a year ago.

"Our mission is to play solid, player-to-player defense," said Timchal. "This year's group should be able to do that and I am excited about watching some of the young players we have and how they respond. Our athleticism will be one of our defensive strengths this year."

GOALIE

If there is one position that Maryland can look to this year and find solace that it is more experienced than it was a year ago, it would be goalkeeper.

Heading into last season, Alexis Venechanos was an unproven sophomore who had big shoes to fill with the departure of 2000 graduate and All-American goalie Alex Kahoe. A year later, Venechanos is 23-0 as a starter and has the confidence that she can mind the net in the biggest games that could possibly be thrown at her.

If there was a weakness a year ago for Venechanos, it was in her consistency. She finished 11th nationally with a 7.60 goals against average, but had lapses in games where she was not at her peak. That said, those lapses never came when the game was on the line. At crunch time, Venechanos was at her finest and showed why she was deserving of the starting job all year long.

In her last game of 2001 (the NCAA championship game versus Georgetown), Venechanos was at the top of her game as she made save after save in the game's final six minutes, including a heart-stopping save of a Sheehan Stanwick free position shot with under a minute to go. It was the type of performance that can only boost a player's confidence, something that will be anticipated of Venechanos in her junior campaign.

Backing up at goalie will be fellow junior Cara Gorman and freshman Kirah Miles. Gorman is simply one of the hardest working players on the team and in the best shape of her career. Miles needs experience, but is not lacking in any other intangible necessary to be a successful netminder.

"We didn't know what to expect last year after we had lost Alex (Kahoe) the year before, but Alexis did what needed to be done and really stepped up when it mattered most in the Final Four," said Timchal. "What we think she needs to do is take that championship experience and move on from there. Consistency is always an issue when you are a first-year starter and I expect Alexis to be improved in that area based on what she showed us last year in the highest-pressure situations."

OVERVIEW

The 2002 version of the Maryland Terrapins will be a group that will enter its season carrying a 43-game unbeaten streak. That streak will be tested – as the Terps are every year – in the season's first weekend as the year opens with a pair of tough tests at Duke and North Carolina. Those games, however, will not make or break the season as the 1998 team proved.

The Terps have a mix of experience and youth, but the underlying resource is skill. This year's team will bring the same exciting brand of lacrosse that has kept the national title tucked away in College Park for seven-straight years.

Timchal believes that the approach has to remain the same.

"We look at this year just like we look like every other one," said Timchal. "This is a new year for us just like it is for all of the other teams. The tradition we have established and what we have been able to accomplish makes us very proud. But with that said, we realize that every time we step out on the field, it is really about that one game – not anything we did last year or in the past."

And just like in year's past, the challenge for Maryland will be to fend off being the focal point on the schedule of virtually every team it plays.

"It has never been our philosophy to win every game, but we are going to give everything we have and if we come up short at some point, hopefully we will learn something from that experience," said Timchal. "Everyone else will be looking for a good game from Maryland and we will try and give it to them."

History suggests that Terrapin foes will get exactly what they are looking for.

2001 SEASON REVIEW

The University of Maryland women's lacrosse team embarked on its 2001 season with the goals and expectations that could be anticipated of a team that comes into a year with a run of six-straight national titles under its belt and potentially the most talented senior class in school history. Expectations, however, are not always easy to attain, especially when failure means finishing anywhere but first. But the '01 version of the Terps lived up to their billing, not only taking home a seventh-consecutive crown, but doing it in the most impressive fashion fathomable – without a scratch.

Maryland opened its 2001 season with two home games against its Atlantic Coast Conference foes from Tobacco Road. Standout Jen Adams jumpstarted the Terps' season with an exciting 10-point (four goals, six assists) performance against Duke. With the assistance of teammates Allison Comito and Courtney Hobbs – who each posted a hat trick – the Maryland squad produce an impressive 18-11 victory out of the gate over the fourth-ranked team in the country.

After enjoying their first ACC victory of the season, the Terps had to battle the state's other lacrosse power as the Tar Heels from Chapel Hill came to town. North Carolina provided the biggest test of the first half of the season as it put the Terps in an early 5-2 hole, taking a three-goal lead into the first half's final six minutes. Showing their quick-strike capability, however, the Maryland team – led by three goals from Adams – went on a 4-0 run in the last six minutes of the frame to give the Terps a one-goal lead at intermission. After netting five goals in the game, Adams passed Kelly Amonte (1993-96) to become Maryland's all-time leading scorer while helping the Terrapins hang on to a tough-fought 8-7 victory and a stronghold on first place in the conference.

From that point until heading to the ACC Tournament (which was held at Disney's Wide World of Sports in Orlando, Fla.), Maryland knocked off 11-straight opponents including a regular season conference-title clinching win at Virginia.

In Orlando, the Terrapins failed to forget the hard-fought 8-7 victory over the Cavaliers earlier in the season, knowing that the ACC Tournament first round match against UVa would be just as big of a challenge. In that game, the Terps jumped out to an early 3-0 lead but Virginia would not remain quiet as it went on a 5-0 run to tie the game at six with less than 10-minutes remaining. At the 9:24 mark, Adams ended a 30-minute scoreless drought with what would be the game winner while sophomore goalie Alexis Venechanos and the Maryland defense held off the Cavaliers for a 7-6 victory. In the tournament title game versus Duke, eventual tourney MVP Quinn Carney helped put away the Blue Devils for the second time this season with three goals and two assists despite suffering from dehydration after the Virginia game. Adams contributed five goals in the contest to be the second player in NCAA history to reach 400 points and the Terps came away with a 15-12 win and the undisputed ACC crown.

Two games later, the Terps would face what would become the biggest threat to their undefeated season as they traveled to Hanover, N.H., to take on Dartmouth. The Big Green did not play the role of the gracious host, however, as they gave Maryland all it could handle in front of a raucous crowd of 2,504. The Terrapins found themselves behind at halftime for the first time all season as Dartmouth found the back of the net six times to lead by two at the half. Not about to relinquish their lead, the Big Green opened up the second half with three more goals stick the Terps with a five-goal deficit six minutes into the half. Despite the deficit and the crowd, Maryland went on to score eight of the game's final 10 goals (five of which were unassisted efforts by Adams) to secure its 18th win of the season and leave Hanover with a 12-11 win. It was the perfect confidence booster for the postseason title run.

In the opening-round match against Monmouth, the Jen Adams Show took center stage as she moved to the top of collegiate lacrosse's all-time scoring chart with an assist to Comito – who pumped in five goals – to give the Aussie 421 points in her collegiate career and move her ahead of former Delaware standout Karen Emas (1981-84). Adams immediately began to distance herself from the mark as she posted a career postseason-high 11 points in the game. Maryland's Quinn Carney and Courtney Hobbs also contributed six points each as the Terps scorched the Hawks, 23-9.

Maryland continued its winning ways in defeating James Madison, 11-9, in the quarterfinal round and then knocking off Princeton (their opponent in the championship game from the year previous), 14-7, in the semifinals.

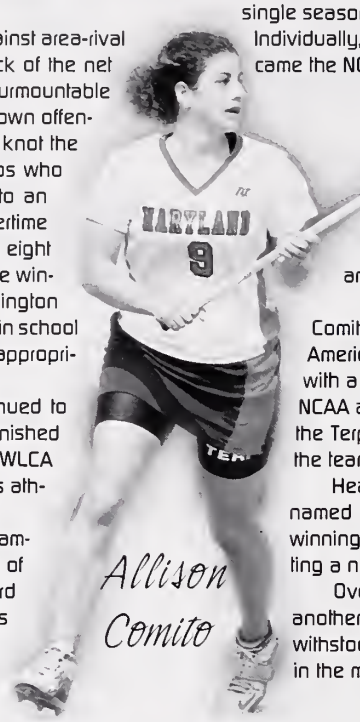
In the end, it would come down to another match against area-rival Georgetown. The Terps came out on fire, finding the back of the net eight straight times and taking what seemed to be an insurmountable 8-1 lead. Down but not out, the Hoyas put together their own offensive fury by notching 11 of the game's next 14 goals to knot the game in regulation. Down the stretch, it was Venechanos who made key saves to keep the Terps alive and headed to an overtime frame. Both teams found the net in the first overtime period to send the game to sudden death and with a mere eight seconds left in that overtime frame, Comito scored the game winner – a lunging off-balance shot – on a pass from Tori Wellington to bring home the national championship for the 10th time in school history. The win could not have been a more emotional, appropriate win for a team that persevered all year long.

On the season, it was a Maryland team that continued to build on current records and break new ones. The Terps finished the year ranked No. 1 for 32-consecutive weeks in the IWLCA polls and holding the longest streak in Division I women's athletics with seven straight national championship titles.

The 2001 season not only brought a 10th national championship to Maryland, but also moved notable members of the team to the tops of multiple Maryland and NCAA record charts. The season began and ended with the Terrapins ranked No. 1 in the nation and produced an undefeated record for the fourth time in school history. In posting a perfect 23-0 record, the Terps not only claimed their seventh-straight NCAA championship, but also won the most games ever in a single season.



Allison Comito

Individually, team captain Jen Adams had a storybook season and became the NCAA all-time points and assists leader. Adams took over the top spot on the Maryland charts by breaking all-time records in goals, assists, and points and setting a new single game record of 12 points (vs. Johns Hopkins). Adams received player of the year honors for the third consecutive year, won her second Honda Award and was the 2001 recipient of the inaugural Tewaaraton Trophy, which is given to top man and woman in the game, respectively.

In addition to Adams' accolades, Quinn Carney, Allison Comito, and Courtney Martinez were all named to the IWLCA All-American and All-ACC teams. Carney finished her collegiate career with a 73-game scoring streak and moved into the Top 10 on the NCAA all-time assists chart. Comito was again an offensive star for the Terps while Martinez had the best year of her career and was the team's "stopper" on defense.

Head coach Cindy Timchal set records of her own as she was named ACC Coach of the Year for the third time and became the winningest coach in the history of women's collegiate lacrosse, setting a new mark with 268 career wins.

Overall, the 2001 version of the Maryland Terrapins was again another one for the scrapbook as well as the record book. The Terps withstood the highest possible expectations and delivered on them in the most resounding fashion possible – without a scratch.

2001 GAME RECAPS

Game 1 — Maryland 18, Duke 11

March 4 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

Maryland opened its 2001 season with an impressive 18-11 win over No. 4 Duke at Ludwig Field.

The Terrapins -- ranked No. 1 in the IWLCA preseason poll -- got a brilliant 10-point performance from senior All-American and two-time Player of the Year, Jen Adams. Adams finished the game with four goals and a career-high tying six assists. Her six assists push her into a tie for third on the NCAA career list with 124 and the 10-point effort (the second-best of her career) moves her into the ninth spot on the NCAA career list in that category with 307.

Maryland (1-0, 1-0 ACC) used quick starts in both halves to take control of the game. Quinn Carney started the game with a goal on a free position shot and Allison Comito found the net twice to give Maryland a 3-1 lead after Duke's Lauren Gallagher mixed in a goal. At the 10:36 mark, Adams then scored her first goal -- a spectacular behind-the-back shot from about eight yards out after a nice assist from Comito. The Terps would build a 8-4 halftime lead.

In the second half, Maryland continued the onslaught as it scored six goals in the first 10 minutes of the half, staking a 14-6 lead with 20 minutes left. Of those six goals, three were accounted for by junior All-American candidate Courtney Hobbs, one of three Terrapins (along with Adams and Comito) to come up with a hat trick.

The Terps carried a 18-8 lead to the 10 minute mark and went into a defensive mode. In the final seven minutes, the Blue Devils netted three goals to cut the lead to seven, but time ran out on a Duke comeback. Junior Kate Kaiser had an impressive five-goal effort for the Blue Devils, but all 11 Duke scores came on individual efforts or free position shots as Maryland closed down the passing lanes.

Game 2 — Maryland 8, North Carolina 7

March 6 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

The Terps overcame a slow start in the first half and a cold, rainy day in College Park to get a win over fifth-ranked North Carolina, 8-7.

In the win, the top-ranked Terrapins got five goals from star senior Jen Adams. With the five-goal effort, Adams overcame Kelly Amonte (1993-96) as Marylands all-time leading goal scorer. Adams now has 188 goals, one more than Amonte's total of 187.

The win was not, however, an easy one for Maryland. After exchanging a pair of goals with the Tar Heels in the game's first 10 minutes, Maryland (2-0, 2-0 ACC) fell behind after a burst of UNC scoring. With 10 minutes remaining in the half, the Terps found themselves in a 5-2 hole and struggling to find their offense. Adams came up with the answer.

At 5:50, Adams scored unassisted and then followed it up just over a minute later after a nice feed from senior Quinn Carney. Fellow senior Allison Comito chipped in another at 3:11, then Adams took a quick feed from Courtney Hobbs after a foul and scored her third goal in the final six minutes of the half. The Terps would take a 6-5 lead into the halt.

In the second half, both teams performed in much the same way that the game had begun -- battling back and forth. The difference in the second half for the Terrapins was the play of sophomore goalie and first-year starter Alexis Venechanos.

After not making a save in the first half, Venechanos came up with a half dozen saves in the second half -- many at close range -- in helping Maryland to victory. After Adams added two more goals in the second half, the Terps had a 8-7 lead in the final minutes and just needed to hang on. That feat was not as easy as anticipated as Maryland had what could have been a costly turnover with a minute left and UNC ended up with a free position shot with 15 seconds remaining. Venechanos was again up to the task, however, and made her final save as the clock ticked toward zero.

In the win, Maryland overcame its largest deficit since last year's Duke game to open the 2000 season. In that game, the Terps were down 8-4 before coming back and winning, 14-10.

Game 3 — Maryland 11, Syracuse 7

March 10 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

Maryland got another superb performance from Jen Adams and a hat trick from Allison Comito as they bested the 10th-ranked Syracuse Orangewomen, 11-7, at Ludwig Field.

In the win, Adams scored three goals and distributed five assists for a total of eight points. That point total gives her 320 for her career, the most ever by a Maryland player. Adams' point total breaks the all-time mark of 319 set by former Terrapin standout Kelly Amonte (1993-96). Through three games of the '01 season, Adams has scored 23 points to lead all Maryland players.

Maryland (3-0, 2-0 ACC) got a stiff challenge from the Orangewomen (0-2) who had a strong five-goal performance from junior Carrie Soults. The Terps opened the game with the first three goals of the contest as Adams, sophomore Sonia Judd and Comito all found the back of the net. But Syracuse fought back and at the 18:11 mark in the first half, the score was knotted at four.

The Terrapins would then go on a scoring run led by Adams and Comito. After freshman Kelly Coppedge and Adams scored to put the Terps up 6-4 at the half, Comito opened the second frame with two quick goals within the first :47. Adams added a goal a minute later and Maryland had run off five straight goals. That scoring spurt gave the Terps a 9-4 lead.

For the remaining 25 minutes, the two teams exchanged three goals to close things out at 11-7 in favor of the Terrapins. The win was Maryland's third against a Top 10 opponent this season and made it 24 wins-in-a-row (total) dating back to last year.

Game 4 — Maryland 8, Virginia 7

March 12 • Klockner Stadium • Charlottesville, Va.

The Terps hit the road for the first time in 2001 and beat the University of Virginia, 8-7, to capture the regular season sweep of their Atlantic Coast Conference opponents.

Maryland got an outstanding performance from senior All-American candidate Quinn Carney who scored five points. Virginia came out showing a deliberate offensive strategy -- the first goal of the game was scored at 26:16 by UVa on the opening possession of the game -- and Carney was huge offensively for the Terps in rebuttal. She scored Maryland's first two goals, both on rebounds and assisted on its third and after a free position goal by Allison Comito, the Terps held a 4-2 lead in the first half. Virginia, however, would rattle the cage twice in the final 2:22 of the frame to knot the score at four at intermission.

As they have in every tight game this season, the Terrapins (4-0, 3-0 ACC) would come out firing to start the second half. Carney scored on a free position shot almost eight minutes in and then assisted Comito from behind the net almost a minute later to put the Terps up, 6-4. After two Cavalier goals were matched by Sonia Judd (who had two on the night) and Courtney Hobbs, Maryland would carry that two goal lead to the eight minute mark.

The lead would shrink after UVa's Jamie Haas scored on a free position shot with 7:55 left and then it was up to the Terps' second-half sensation, Alexis Venechanos. Venechanos -- who did not have a save in the first half -- made three of her six total saves in the final five minutes with the last coming at 1:11 to preserve the win.

The regular season conference title is No. 1 Maryland's third in five tries and first since 1999. The Terps have also now won 13 straight over the Cavs.

Game 5 — Maryland 20, Brown 4

March 17 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

The top-ranked Terrapins went on a scoring spree and beat the unranked Brown Bears, 20-4, at Ludwig Field.

In the win, senior All-American Jen Adams broke the all-time NCAA record for assists with her total of three which moved her career total to 133. In breaking the record, Adams killed two birds with one stone as she broke not only the NCAA record, but also the Maryland school record as the all-time mark of 132 was set by Kelly Amonte, who played for the Terrapins from 1993-96. With the record, Adams is now Maryland's all-time leader in assists, points and goals as she had broken the other two marks (also held by Amonte) earlier this year.

In the win over Brown (0-2), Maryland (5-0, 3-0 ACC) got scoring from everywhere as nine Terps rattled the cage and 11 got into the scoring column. Leading the way were Adams and Quinn Carney who had four goals apiece. Freshman Kelly Coppedge came up with her first collegiate hat trick as she had three goals and an assist while senior Tori Wellington tied her career high with three goals of her own. In addition, senior Allison Comito tied her career high with three assists and freshman Julie Shank scored the first two goals of her career.

Maryland spent most of the day in Brown's end of the field and it showed in the statistics as the Terps out-shot the Bears, 45-13. The 20 goals were the most by a Maryland team since April 1st of last year -- a span of 17 games -- when the Terrapins scored 24 versus James Madison.

Game 6 — Maryland 23, UMBC 2

March 21 • Artificial Turf Facility • College Pk., Md.

Maryland scored early and often despite unfavorable conditions and beat in-state foe UMBC, 23-2, at the University of Maryland Turf Facility.

The game -- originally scheduled to take place at Ludwig Field but moved because of rain and poor field conditions -- was not only the second consecutive game in which the Terps have topped the 20-goal plateau, but also the second straight that nine Terrapins have found the back of the net in a game. Four other Maryland players had assists to make a total of 13 Terrapins in the scoring column.

Leading the way once again for Maryland (6-0, 3-0 ACC) was senior standout Jen Adams who scored a season-high six goals and added an assist. Freshman Kelly Coppedge scored four goals and had an assist, making it seven goals and nine points in her last two games. In addition, senior Quinn Carney and sophomore Sonia Judd each had hat tricks in the Maryland win.

Notably, Adams was on pace to break her personal record for goals in a game (seven) when, with approximately 18 minutes remaining, she took a stick just above her right eye and was forced to leave the game for treatment and did not return.

Though she left the game early, Adams still scored the 200th goal of her career and moved into fourth on the NCAA's career point chart.

March 24 • Foreman Field • Norfolk, Va.

The Terps won their second road game of the season as they handed 16th-ranked Old Dominion a 13-8 loss at Foreman Field in Norfolk, Va.

With the win, Maryland moved to 7-0 on the season with all but one of its victories coming against Top 20 competition. Against the Lady Monarchs, senior All-American Allison Comito led the way in scoring with four goals. Comito was deadly against ODU as she missed on just one of the five shots she took in the game.

The victory was not as difficult for the Terrapins as the final score reflected. They took control in the first half and held a 5-2 lead at intermission. After Maryland bumped its lead to 8-2 just 10 minutes into the second frame, Old Dominion went on its own run to make the game respectable. Senior midfielder Oana Wisniewski went on a scoring rampage as she found the net five times in the second half, the final tally coming as the clock hit zero to end the game.

As it had in the previous three games, Maryland got it done against ODU with a balanced scoring attack. Eight Terps rattled the cage against Old Dominion whereas nine had in each of the previous two contests. In addition to Comito's four-goal performance, Jen Adams had a pair of goals and led the team with a total of six points. Senior Meg McNamara was the only other scorer with more than one goal as she had two as well.

Game 8 — Maryland 14, Penn State 8

March 30 • Jeffrey Field • University Park, Pa.
ACC/Big Ten Challenge

Maryland continued its impressive play as the first month of its regular season came to a close when it handed the 13th-ranked Penn State Nittany Lions a 14-8 loss in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge at University Park, Pa.

Against the Nittany Lions, senior Jen Adams was again the story as she almost single-handedly kept the Terps in the contest early and then continued to apply pressure throughout. Adams scored the Terrapins' first four goals, all of which came in the first five-and-a-half minutes, to give Maryland a 4-3 lead after Penn State had taken a 2-0 lead early. The Terps ended up with an 8-5 halftime advantage and Adams had a hand in every score as she finished the half with five goals and three assists. For the game, she scored a career-high tying seven goals to go along with the three assists.

The event was almost an all-Aussie affair for Maryland as Adams, Courtney Hobbs and Sonia Judd accounted for 12 of the team's 14 goals. Hobbs scored three and added an assist while Judd scored two. Allison Comito was the only player aside from the trio to score as she had a pair of goals.

As they have numerous times this year, the Terps were able to overcome a strong individual performance by a member of the opposition to get the victory. Against PSU, it was the play of freshman who scored four of the Nittany Lions eight goals.

Game 9 — Maryland 19, Ohio State 2

April 1 • Jeffrey Field • University Park, Pa.
ACC/Big Ten Challenge

The Terrapins wrapped up the ACC/Big Ten Challenge in University Park, Pa., with a 19-2 win over Ohio State. With the win, the Terps moved to 9-0 (3-0 ACC) on the season.

In the victory over the Buckeyes, Maryland got a balanced scoring attack -- with 10 players finding the back of the net -- as well as strong defense and an outstanding game from goalie Alexis Venechanos. Leading the way in scoring for the Terps was Allison Comito who scored four goals and added a pair of assists. Quinn Carney also had four goals while Courtney Hobbs had a hat trick and three assists as well.

The contest between the Terps and Buckeyes was never really in doubt as Maryland jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. The Terrapins scored the game's first four goals before OSU got on the board in the first half, and that was as close as Ohio State would get. Maryland rattled off the final six goals of the half and ultimately pushed its lead to 15-1 before the Buckeyes would find the net again.

Game 10 — Maryland 16, James Madison 6

April 8 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

Maryland jumped out early and never looked back against 12th-ranked James Madison, beating the Dukes, 16-6, on a sunny day in College Park.

The Terps' win was their 10th in as many games this year and 30th-in-a-row overall dating back to last season. That streak is the team's longest since running off 50 straight from 1995-97.

The Terrapins got out quickly in both halves, but particularly so in the first. Just 22 seconds from the opening draw, Maryland held a 2-0 lead after goals by Tori Wellington (29:46) and Courtney Hobbs (29:38). For Hobbs, it was a continuation of a recent string of strong play as she wrapped up a hat trick and three of the Terrapins' first four goals before 10 minutes had elapsed in the half.

Hobbs' Australian cohort, Jen Adams, picked it up from there and notched a hat trick of her own in the first half as Maryland outscored JMU 9-3 in the opening frame.

The second half again saw the Terps come out strong as they posted the first five goals after intermission and counted on sophomore goalie Alexis Venechanos and a stingy defense to seal the victory. Venechanos had her second straight strong outing as she made seven assists while allowing just the six goals.

In the end, Adams led all scorers with nine points (six goals, three assists) making it 43 points in her last six games. Hobbs' hat trick gives her three straight games with at least three goals and Allison Comito added five points on a pair of goals and three assists.

Game 11 — Maryland 17, William & Mary 5

April 10 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

The Terrapins beat the ninth-ranked Tribe of William & Mary, 17-5, with an equal dose of strong offensive and defensive displays.

In the win, the Terps continued a recent trend as they jumped out early on their opponent. Maryland scored the game's first nine goals and did not let the Tribe on the board until the 5:31 mark in the first half. Tori Wellington again got things cranked up for the Terrapins as she took the opening draw and raced downfield to score just 12 seconds into the game. Wellington did the same thing in game 11 against James Madison as she scored after just 14 seconds had elapsed. As a team, Maryland has outscored its opponents 20-2 in the first 20 minutes of its last three games.

In the second half, things did not change much for either team. Maryland scored the first six goals of the half and the Tribe did not find the net until 5:34 of the frame. The story of the game was Maryland's ability to hold William & Mary in check while being able to get into their own offensive set at will. The Terps shot the ball 43 times (third most in a game this season) while holding the Tribe to a paltry nine shots (fewest by a Terrapin opponent this year).

Jen Adams led the way in scoring with five goals and an assist while Wellington and Courtney Hobbs each notched hat tricks. For Hobbs, it marked the fourth straight contest that the junior standout has accomplished the feat while Wellington's trifecta was her third of the season.

Game 12 — Maryland 13, Georgetown 9

April 12 • Kehoe Field • Washington, D.C.

Top-ranked Maryland put together its most complete and impressive performance of the 2001 season, beating the fifth-ranked Georgetown Hoyas, 13-9, at Kehoe Field in Washington, D.C.

The Terrapins (12-0, 3-0 ACC) knew early in the contest that they were in for a battle with the Hoyas, who came into the game riding a three-game win streak and were coming off of a huge 15-9 win at North Carolina. As they did a year ago in the NCAA Tournament, Georgetown started the contest trying to slow the pace of the game and it was successful for the most part getting on the board first and limiting Maryland's touches. The game was nip-and-tuck early with GU holding the ball and the Terps making the most of their opportunities when they did touch it. With 20 minutes elapsed in the first half, the score was tied at three with the bipartisan crowd on the edge of their collective seats.

The Terps hung in there, however, and got a pair of crucial goals before the end of the half and the senior duo of Jen Adams and Allison Comito were responsible. With 7:57 remaining in the half, Adams took a pass from Comito from behind the net and converted to put Maryland up one. Then, with the half winding down, the Terps had the ball in Georgetown's end but turned it over. As the Hoyas were heading down field with under a minute left, Courtney Martinez -- who was outstanding all game defensively -- stripped the ball and got it to Adams who raced for the goal and was fouled with 14 seconds in the half. On her free position attempt, Adams dished it to Comito on the right side of the goalmouth who put the shot away for a two-goal Maryland lead at intermission.

The second half saw the Terrapins increase their lead, scoring two goals in the first six minutes and basically forcing the Hoyas out of their slow-down approach. Georgetown would get as close as 9-7 in the second half, but the Terps pulled away behind goals from Adams (2), Quinn Carney and Comito.

Adams led the way in scoring for Maryland for the 10th time in 12 games this year as she notched her third 10-point effort with six goals and four assists. Comito added a hat trick and a pair of assists while sophomore netminder Alexis Venechanos made seven saves.

Game 13 — Maryland 24, Johns Hopkins 5

April 14 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

The Terrapins beat 19th-ranked Johns Hopkins, 24-5, at Byrd Stadium in the opening game of a twinbill with the Terrapin men's team.

In the win, Jen Adams set the school record for points with 12 as she had eight goals and four assists. The 12 points breaks the record of 11 set four other times (one of which was by Adams a year ago). It is also the fourth time this season that the two-time National Player of the Year has notched double-digit points in a game.

In addition to the points record, the Brighton, So. Australia native set a personal record for goals (8) and moved into second on the NCAA career points list with 392. She now trails only the total of 420 set by Karen Emas of Delaware who played from 1981-84.

Although Maryland's winning margin was its second largest of the season, the game did not start out looking like it would end that way. The Terps (13-0, 3-0 ACC) jumped out to an early 4-0 lead, but Hopkins came back and posted four of the next five goals to cut the score to 5-4 in Maryland's favor.

The second half was all Maryland -- literally. The Terrapins scored 16 times and held Hopkins without a goal for the final 31:07. The Blue Jays' 10 shots in the game were the second-lowest this season by a Maryland opponent.

Joining Adams at the top of the scoring column were junior Courtney Hobbs (four goals, two assists), senior Allison Comito (two goals, three assists) and sophomore Sonia Judd (three goals, one assist). For Hobbs, it marked the fifth time in the last six games that she has notched at least a hat trick. In that six-game span, she has scored 18 goals.

Game 14 — Maryland 7, Virginia 6

April 20 • Disney Sports Complex • Orlando
ACC Tournament Semifinal

The No. 1 seed Maryland Terrapins stayed undefeated as they held off the No. 4 seed Virginia Cavaliers, 7-6 in the first women's lacrosse semifinal at the ACC Tournament at the Disney's Wide World of Sports. Two-time National Player of the Year Jen Adams scored the game-winning goal off of a pass from Meg McNamara with 9:24 left in regulation for the Terps' only goal of the second half. It also ended a 30-minute scoreless drought for Maryland (14-0).

Maryland jumped out to a 3-0 lead on a pair of goals by Quinn Carney and one by Tori Wellington with 16:40 left in the first half. Virginia ended Maryland's run as Lacey Aumiller took a pass from Mills Hook and beat Maryland's Alexis Venechanos with 15:46 left in the first half.

The Terps quickly answered with back-to-back goals from McNamara and Courtney Hobbs in 34 seconds to build a 5-1 lead. Carney added her third of the game with 9:49 left in the first to make it 6-1. Virginia cut it to a three-goal lead on goals by Jamie Haas and Lauren Aumiller late in the first half, making it 6-3 at halftime.

Trailing 6-1 with just under five minutes left in the first half, Virginia (9-6) ripped off five goals in a row bridging both halves to tie the game at 6-6 with 9:55 left in regulation. The Aumiller sisters came up big as sophomore Lauren Aumiller scored three times and senior Lacey Aumiller had one goal and assisted Lauren's second goal in the 5-0 run.

Game 15 — Maryland 15, Duke 12

April 22 • Disney Sports Complex • Orlando
ACC Tournament Semifinal

The Terrapins captured their fourth ACC championship in five years and third in a row, with a 15-12 win over No. 2 seed Duke (12-3) at Disney's Wide World of Sports.

ACC Player of the Year Jen Adams scored five goals and became the second player in collegiate women's lacrosse history to surpass the 400-point plateau. The two-time national player of the year now has an even 400 points, trailing only Karen Emas, who recorded 420 points at Delaware from 1981-84. Maryland's Quinn Carney was selected as the tournament MVP after six goals and two assists in the weekend's two games.

The Terps held off Duke several times in the second half, as the Blue Devils outscored the Terps 8-7 in the stanza. Lauren Gallagher recorded all three of her goals and an assist in the half.

After Maryland built a lead as large as five at 12-7 with 17:12 left in regulation, Duke notched three straight goals in less than three minutes -- two from Gallagher -- to draw within two at 12-10 with 12:20 left in the game.

Maryland led 8-4 at halftime, as the Terps scored eight of the last 10 goals of the half including two each from Adams and Meg McNamara.

After falling behind 2-0, Maryland reeled off five of the next six goals to build a 5-3 lead midway though the first half. The run started with a pair of free position goals from Adams and Allison Comito. McNamara gave the Terps their first lead 3-2, 8:53 into the first half. After Duke's Claire Sullivan tied the game at 3-3, Maryland got two more goals from Quinn Carney and McNamara.

Duke jumped out to an early 2-0 lead on goals by Kate Kaiser -- on a free position shot -- and Kate Soulier just 3:20 into the game.

Game 16 — Maryland 7, Princeton 6

April 25 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

Maryland won a close one over No. 5 Princeton at Ludwig Field, 7-6 . Senior Jen Adams netted the game-winning goal with 1:31 remaining to keep the Terps undefeated and stretch the team's winning streak to 36 straight.

Princeton came out dictating the deliberate tempo of the game, and were able to score the game's first goal just over eight minutes in when Whitney Miller found Lauren Simone for the first of two goals on the night. Terps' attacker Courtney Hobbs (West Lakes, South Australia) found the back of the net just over a minute later to tie the game for the first of four times in the contest.

As the first half clock ticked away, play was scoreless for the next 13 minutes before Princeton took the lead again when Kim Smith scored the first of her game-high three goals. Senior midfielder Quinn Carney (Flemington, N.J.) knotted the game at two all at the 4:07 mark with her first of two goals. The half ended with each team getting a late goal, Princeton's coming at 35 seconds remaining when midfielder Theresa Sherry scored her lone point of the night. Hobbs was fouled on the way to the goal and tied it up again at three on a free position shot from the right side with 23 seconds remaining in the first half.

Princeton captured its third advantage of the day just 51 seconds into the second half of play on Smith's second goal of the day. ACC Player of the Year Adams pulled the Terps even again with a free position goal at 25:17. Carney gave the Terps' their first lead of the day netting her second of the day with just over 15 minutes remaining to make it 5-4 Maryland. A free position goal from the left side capped off a three-goal run for Maryland with 13 minutes remaining.

The No. 5 Tigers weren't done, however, and got one more goal each from Simone and Smith, who had the equalizer with just 2:28 remaining in regulation. Maryland won the draw and found an isolated Adams on the left side who dodged around her defender to get the angle and deposit the game-winner in the upper righthand corner of the net past Tigers' goalie Meghan McInnes, who finished the day with seven saves. The Terps won the final draw of the game and held on for the 7-6 win.

The Terps celebrated Senior Day with a 16-12 win over No. 4 Loyola (12-4) in Maryland's regular season finale at Ludwig Field. Seniors Jen Adams and Quinn Carney led the Terrapins. Adams finished with five goals and five assists, while Carney netted five goals and two assists. Loyola's Stacey Morlang finished the day with four goals and an assist in the losing effort.

Game 18 — Maryland 12, Dartmouth 11

May 4 • Scully-Fahey Field • Hanover, N.H.

No. 1 Maryland won a nailbiter over fourth-ranked Dartmouth, 12-11, at Scully-Fahey Field in Hanover, N.H.

In front of 2,504 raucous fans, the Terrapins and Big Green waged what was arguably one of the most incredible wars in Maryland women's lacrosse history and it took a valiant Maryland comeback for the Terps to move to 18-0 on the season. The Terrapins got on the board first in the contest as Allison Comito started the game with a goal on a rebound at 26:13. Dartmouth played the same slow down pace in the first half that Maryland has seen so many times this year and 22 minutes in, the game was tied at 3-3.

After a Quinn Carney goal at 7:31, Dartmouth went on a run with three goals to end the first half and sent the Terps to the locker room down, 6-4. It was the first time this year that Maryland has trailed at the half.

The trouble continued for the Terps in the second half as the Big Green gave up the slow down approach and piled on three more goals in the first six minutes of the half to up their lead to five. That was when Jen Adams -- the two time national player of the year and this year's ACC Player of the Year -- went to work.

The senior native of Brighton, So. Australia scored five times in under 20 minutes with the fifth score knotting the game at 11 with 4:28 remaining after Dartmouth had just staked a one-goal lead a minute earlier. The game winner came a minute-and-a-half later as All-ACC defender Courtney Martinez scored her second goal of the year on a free position shot with 2:51 left. The Terps won the draw on the ensuing face off and ran out all but the final seven seconds of the clock, at which time the Big Green was too far from the Maryland goal to get a shot.

With her seven points, Adams moved to within two points of becoming the most prolific scorer in the history of women's collegiate lacrosse.

Game 19 — Maryland 14, Harvard 4

May 6 • Jordan Field • Cambridge, Mass.

The top-ranked Terps beat Harvard University at Jordan Field in Cambridge, Mass., 14-4. With the win, the Terrapins closed out the 2001 regular season with an 19-0 record (3-0, ACC).

With the f9-0 mark, the 2001 Maryland team became the sixth in school history to run the table in the regular season. The 1980, 1994, 1995, 1996 and 1999 teams all accomplished the feat, while the '95, '96 and '99 teams went on to continue the run through the postseason as well.

At Harvard, the Terps got off to a slow start but overcame their early sluggishness quickly. After watching the Crimson open up with a 2-0 lead in the game's first 10 minutes, coach Cindy Timchal called a timeout that seemed to spark some change in the Terrapins. From that point on, Maryland would go on to outscore the Crimson 14-2 en route to another impressive win.

In the victory, senior Allison Comito led the way with four goals and an assist. Fellow senior Quinn Carney also scored five points as she had a hat trick and a pair of assists while Courtney Hobbs joined the five-point club with a goal and four assists. For Hobbs, the four assists marked a career single-game high.

In addition to the exploits of Comito, Carney and Hobbs, Meredith Egan had a nice game with two goals and two assists. One of the most impressive efforts of the day, however, came from the Terps' backup goalie, Virginia Solomon, who spelled starter Alexis Venechanos with under 20 minutes remaining in the game. Though the game was well in hand, Solomon looked strong making six saves, causing a turnover and scooping up three ground balls.

Game 20 — Maryland 23, Monmouth 9

May 10 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

NCAA First Round

The top-seeded Maryland women's lacrosse team advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals in a 23-9 win over 16th-seeded Monmouth at Ludwig Field. The Terrapins have now won 17 straight NCAA Tournament games and scored a team tournament best 23 goals in doing so, but the story of the day was standout Jen Adams.

Adams, a senior native of Brighton, So. Australia, became the most prolific scorer in the history of collegiate women's lacrosse as her second point of the game -- an assist to Allison Comito just over four minutes in -- put her one point ahead of Karen Emas, Oetaware's star from 1981-84. Emas' record was 420 and Adams began distancing herself from the mark early as she finished the game with four goals and a career-high seven assists to lead all scorers with 11 points. Her 11 points is her most in a postseason game and gives her a total of 430 heading into the next round.

In the game, Monmouth came out and proved tougher than its seeding indicated. The Hawks took a 2-0 lead early and after the Terps ran off six straight, Monmouth battled back to knot the score at six apiece. As the half came to an end, the Hawks found themselves trailing the six-time defending NCAA champions by just a goal (8-7).

The second half began with the Terrapins on fire. Maryland ran off five goals in the frame's first eight minutes led by a pair from Allison Comito. After two Monmouth goals, the Terrapins held the Hawks scoreless the rest of the game while scoring 10 goals of their own to run away with it.

Aside from Adams, the Terrapins were led by Comito (5 goals, 1 assist) and Quinn Carney (4 goals, 2 assists), but a pair of Maryland players may have given the most impressive performance's aside from Adams'. Meredith Egan scored a career-high five goals (nearly half of her season total of 12) and Virginia Solomon came off the bench to post eight saves in goal in just over 32 minutes of work. For Solomon, the game marked the second in a row that she has been strong in relief as she had six saves versus zero goals at Harvard.

Game 21 — Maryland 11, James Madison 9

May 13 • Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

NCAA Quarterfinal

The Terps advanced to the NCAA women's lacrosse Final Four for the 12th-straight time with a come-from-behind 11-9 win over ninth-seeded and ninth-ranked James Madison.

The Terrapins, now 21-0 and winners of 41 straight dating back to last year, had their second scare of the year (the first being at Dartmouth) as James Madison successfully slowed the game down after Maryland had jumped to an early 5-1 lead. After falling behind early, the Dukes held the Terps scoreless for a total of 26:23 (from 22:47 in the first half to 26:36 in the second) while scoring five goals of their own to close out the first half. JMU held a 6-5 lead at the break, marking just the second time this season that Maryland had trailed at the half (again, Dartmouth being the other).

The Terps came out in the second half, however, and rattled off three goals of their own while holding the Dukes scoreless for the frame's first 15 minutes. With Maryland up 8-6, JMU then scored three goals before the 10-minute mark and surged ahead, 9-8. The Dukes then slowed the game down even more, successfully running clock while Maryland waited for a scoring opportunity. Thanks to junior Meredith Egan, that chance finally came.

With just over 2:00 remaining, Egan stripped the ball from a JMU player on offense while Quinn Carney scooped up the ground ball and helped Maryland get in its offensive set. Then, with 1:35 left on the clock, Jen Adams escaped two defenders on the right side of the goal mouth then found the back of the net with a backhand to tie the game at 9-9. Egan then came up big again, controlling the ensuing draw, and the Terps went down to set for a game-winning shot attempt.

With the clock winding down, Carney made a charge at the left side of the cage but lost the ball. In the mad scramble to maintain possession, a Madison defender accidentally scooped the ball past goalie Jen Corradini and into the net for what ended up being the game winner at 0:18 remaining. The Terps tacked on another quick goal for good measure at 0:11 as Courtney Hobbs scored on a fast break opportunity.

In the game, Adams scored three goals and added an assist for four points total. Her three goals gave her 84 for the season, a new Maryland single season record, and her four points set the single-season collegiate mark as she now has 137. Both records she broke were her own from a year ago. Also noteworthy was the continued strong play of backup goalie Virginia Solomon. Solomon came on in relief again today and made eight saves versus five goals allowed. In the last three games, Solomon has seen increased action and her numbers have been strong (22 svs., 10 GA).

Game 22 — Maryland 14, Princeton 7

May 18 • Homewood Field • Baltimore, Md.

NCAA Semifinal

The top-seeded and top-ranked University of Maryland women's lacrosse team continued its run at its seventh straight NCAA title with a 14-7 win over No. 5 Princeton in the national semifinal at Johns Hopkins University. With the win, the Terrapins moved to 22-0 on the season, extended their overall win streak to 42-in-a-row, and pushed their NCAA Tournament win streak to 19 straight.

In addition to the Terps' extending their streaks, head coach Cindy Timchal tied William Smith's Pat Genovese on the all-time collegiate list for coaching wins. Maryland's victory was the 267th of Timchal's career (191 at Maryland and 76 at Northwestern).

In the semifinal action -- a rematch of the 2000 national final -- the Terps started slow and came on like gangbusters. After over ten minutes of scoreless lacrosse, Princeton was the first to get on the board as Charlotte Kenworthy found the back of the net at 19:04. The Terrapins controlled the ensuing draw, however, and freshman Kelly Coppedge got the Terps on the board with her first goal of the evening. Maryland increased its lead to 2-1 at 11:11 when senior Allison Comito found Coppedge on a quick-hitter in front of the cage. The game was nip-and-tuck for the next nine-plus minutes with the Terps holding a narrow 4-3 edge with 1:46 remaining in the half.

That would change as the half drew to a close as Coppedge notched a hat trick with her third goal coming off of an assist from Jen Adams with 17 seconds left in the frame. Just 11 seconds later, Adams took a feed from Courtney Hobbs after Hobbs was awarded a free position attempt and the Terrapins would carry a 6-3 lead into the locker room.

After the intermission, the Terps took over where they left off, scoring four unanswered goals in the period's first 11 minutes. Quinn Carney led the charge as she scored three of those, the first coming on an amazing backhand with almost no angle on the right side of the goalmouth. From that point on, Maryland outscored Princeton 4-3 for the 14-7 final.

For the game, the Terps were led in scoring by Hobbs' four goals and two assists for a career-high tying six points. The four goals also tied a career high, one which was originally set in last year's final versus the Tigers. A trio of Terrapins joined in with hat tricks as Carney, Coppedge and Adams found the net three times while Adams matched Hobbs' six points as she added three assists.

Game 23 — Maryland 14, Georgetown 13

May 20 • Homewood Field • Baltimore, Md.

NCAA Final (2OT)

The top-seeded and top-ranked University of Maryland women's lacrosse team realized its goal today, winning its seventh straight NCAA Championship in a 14-13 double overtime thriller with third-seeded Georgetown at Homewood Field in Baltimore. In doing so, the Terrapins (23-0) became the fourth Maryland team in school history to finish its season without a blemish, joining the undefeated 1995, 1996 and 1999 teams.

The Terps' exciting win did not come easy as it occurred with eight seconds remaining on the clock in the second overtime period. The winning goal was scored by senior Allison Comito after fellow senior Tori Wellington had dumped the ball in to her just to the right of the goal mouth. The goal ended the contest as the two teams had gone a pair of overtimes, scoring a goal apiece in each and ultimately making the sudden death period necessary.

The game's ending was not indicative of how it began as -- after allowing the Hoyas' Sheehan Stanwick to score the game's opening goal -- Maryland rattled off eight straight goals to take what seemed to be a commanding 8-1 lead. Leading the way was Wellington who rushed the goal for a pair of scores, while standout Jen Adams scored a goal and dished out a trio of assists in helping to account for half of the eight.

As it did in the semifinals against Loyola, Georgetown did not give up. The Hoyas, who came back from an 8-4 halftime deficit to get to the championship game, went on to score five of the next six goals to cut the Terps' halftime lead to 9-6.

With the start of the second half, so began the rain in Baltimore. Stanwick again opened the half with a goal, cutting the Maryland lead to 9-7, then junior Courtney Hobbs scored a pair to give the Terps an 11-7 lead. Again, the Hoyas would battle back, this time scoring three straight to cut the Terrapin lead to one. Quinn Carney gave the Terps another cushion when she converted a free position with 10:44 remaining, but Georgetown plotted on behind an Erin Elbe goal (her fifth of the day) and Gloria Lozano's second to tie the score with 5:51 left.

For the final five minutes, it was up to the Terrapin defense as Georgetown spent most of that time in Maryland's end. Sophomore goalie Alexis Venechanos -- who easily played what was the best game of her young career -- came up with some big saves, the largest coming on a Sheehan Stanwick free position shot with less than a minute remaining, helping send the game to overtime.

In the first half of the first overtime, freshman sensation Kelly Coppedge found the net with 0:17 left, giving the Terps the lead. Georgetown answered with 1:50 left in the second half of overtime one to send the game to the second, sudden death frame where Comito came up big and the Terps clinched number seven.

Five Terrapins made the NCAA Championship all-tournament team as Jen Adams, Tori Wellington, Quinn Carney and Kelly Coppedge were joined by the championship's most valuable player, Courtney Martinez.

With the win, head coach Cindy Timchal passed William Smith's Pat Genovese on the all-time collegiate list for

Celebrating the 10th Anniversary of Cindy Timchal's First Title

Timchal on her 1992 team:

"The 1992 team is a very special team to me personally. It was my second year here at Maryland and to win the national championship was just incredible. The year before, we had lost in the championship final and – at the time – I feared we would never get back. Our seniors-to-be told me 'we're not worried; we'll win next year.' It's not that I didn't believe them, but, well, I didn't think we were going to win! But that is the kind of athletes and people they were and they went out and won two overtime games to win it all. It was a very, very special team and with as much as has transpired in the sport of women's lacrosse since, I just can't believe it is only 10 years ago."

Leading The Way Into The 21ST CENTURY

A CARNEGIE RESEARCH-I UNIVERSITY
MEMBER, ASSOC. OF AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES (AAU)
FLAGSHIP OF THE UNIVERSITY SYSTEM OF MARYLAND
NCAA DIVISION I ATHLETICS

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

THE CAMPUS

The University of Maryland, College Park is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

FLAGSHIP STATUS

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

LIBRARIES

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

RESEARCH

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

SERVICE

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The University of Maryland features a diversity of cultural and recreational activities. Four art galleries, more than 200 annual musical performances and countless dance and theater productions, expose audiences to the broadest range of programs in the arts. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

A WIRED WORLD

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources such as inforM, or send electronic mail to faculty, fellow students or friends at other universities.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT C.D. MOTE JR.

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Three years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The result was a 1999 law reaffirming the university's flagship status and a commitment to become one of the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to achieving that goal by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Examples:

- Maryland has 60 programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News and World Report.
- The faculty includes a Nobelist, six Pulitzer Prize winners and nearly two dozen members of the national academies in their fields.
- The average GPA of entering students improved from 3.00 to 3.72 from 1990 to 2000, while the average SAT score rose from 1173 to 1244.
- In the past year, the university helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park and helped to establish the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.
- In FY 2001, the university received more than $300 million in research grants and outreach funding.
- The university is adding spectacular new facilities such as the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; the Comcast Center, scheduled to open in 2002; and new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Under Dan Mote's leadership, Maryland today is truly the state's greatest asset.

Athletics Director
DEBORAH A. YOW

Dr. Deborah A. Yow is in the eighth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland ... a year in which she also successfully concluded her presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, an organization with a membership of more than 6,100 athletic administrators representing 1,600 colleges and universities in North America and Mexico.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony to her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of NACDA is an indication of the respect with which Dr. Yow is regarded in intercollegiate athletics and education in the U.S. and Canada.

Last year, Yow was named Female Sports Executive of the Year by the editors of Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal. In addition, she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

As a former member of the NCAA Management Council and NCAA Division I Budget Committee, Yow presented a strong voice for excellence and integrity at the highest levels of intercollegiate athletics. In these national roles she has represented the University of Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference with a balanced and proactive voice.

Maryland athletics director Deborah A. Yow was recently awarded the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award by the United States Sports Academy.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

• Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.

• Balanced all seven of the department's annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $33 million annually and the sizable prior debts have been eradicated.

• Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided to student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of nearly 90 percent during her tenure.

• Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.

• Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 140 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.

• Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.

• Implemented a strategic management model.

• Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.

• Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The Maryland Department of Athletics has made remarkable progress under Yow's leadership. Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past seven years, Dr. Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles. She was recently singled out by Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for longtime Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in Cole Field House. It features a study center that includes 24 desktop computers, private study cubicles, a tutoring center, classrooms, and individual offices for four professional academic counselors, a learning specialist, an assistant program coordinator, and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for three professional counselors and a 16-station desktop computer center.

Mission

The mission of the unit is (1) to provide quality developmental programs and need based services that will enhance the opportunity to earn an undergraduate degree, (2) offer career development opportunities and (3) support the psychosocial growth of student athletes through special initiatives.

Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Associate director Karen Schifert is the ASCDU liason for the lacrosse team.

ASCDU & The University

Primary academic advising is provided by professional advisors assigned to each student athlete by his or her home college, school or department. The ASCDU counselors serve as an important support network that coordinates and implements transitional and developmental programs to address the academic and career development needs of student athletes. In cooperation with the Office of Records and Registration, ASCDU monitors academic progress of student athletes to assure that NCAA, ACC, and University rules and regulations are met.

Location

The primary ASCDU unit is conveniently located on the ground floor of Cole Field House where student athletes have access to various resources and services. Each academic counselor has private office space in order to insure meeting privacy. A study table room is staffed by proctors and arranged to maximize student focus and concentration. The facility also houses a tutorial room devoted to servicing the learning needs of student athletes. The staff maintains two computer resource laboratories with a total of 40 personal computers containing up-to-date software packages. In addition, ASCDU coordinates a laptop computer service that provides each team access to laptop computers while traveling to away competitions.

There is also a satellite computer room in the Gossett Football Team House. Three of the nine ASCDU professionals are currently housed in the building.

The Future

In the summer of 2002, the $124 million Comcast Center will become the new home of the ASCDU unit. A 7,000 square foot wing has been developed to replace the current space in Cole Field House. The new home of ASCDU will be conveniently located on the floor where offices of coaches for 20 sports will also be placed. The close proximity was designed to facilitate communication among ASCDU staff, coaches and student athletes.

Strength & CONDITIONING

Collegiate lacrosse has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Barry Kagan that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the lacrosse team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for lacrosse is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. Kagan makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in lacrosse goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the lacrosse team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.

CHOICE OF CHAMPIONS

SEVEN STRAIGHT NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

deBeer is proud to have been selected as the official sponsor of the University of Maryland Women's Lacrosse Team. Maryland prepares to capture its unprecedented eighth consecutive national title with the confidence that they are using the highest performing equipment in the game. The Apex with Trakker pocket, with its superior accuracy in passing and shooting, will be spotted on the field and the Web goalie stick, with larger save area and angled support ribs, can be seen denying goals in the crease. deBeer salutes this incredible achievement and is exceptionally pleased to be a part of it.
